Dear Clinton,

For a while now I have been following your case. I'm so sorry about what has happened to you. It's hard to understand why, in the name of justice, no proper research has been done and all evidence pointing away from you (and even towards other people) has been neglected and even "disappeared". It's like you said in 2017 in 'Innocent on death row': 'This is not about justice, it's about upholding the statistic'. It's sad to know that things like this can happen in what is often called "the civilized world".

However, I have heard that there are new developments in your case. Please keep your hopes up high and know that people around the world are following your case and protesting what has happened to you. You deserve a new trial and we will not stop fighting until the truth comes out.

Kind regards, take care,
